The Blade's President.

TOLEDO, May 24.—The Blade comes out this afternoon in advocacy of the republicans nominating for president Supreme Judge Thomas M. Cooley, of Michigan. JACKSON, May 24.—A bold robbery was committed on the New York express train from Chicago late Thursday night. Just as it reached Jackson three men entered the rear coach and requested the passengers to step into the forward car, as that one was to be housed for emigrants during the rest of the journey, and as the passengers started to depart they were robbed of all their cash and valuables. The robbery was so cleverly planned and boldly and quickly executed that no alarm was given until after the train had left for the east and the trio departed. The exact amount taken cannot be ascertained, but it is probably quite large. An Ypsilanti man lost $100. Two suspicious persons have been arrested.

THE LONG LIST

Of Ocean Disasters is Increased by the Sinking of Another Vessel Near the Coast.

A French Vessel Goes Aground in a Fog and Sinks in Fifteen Minutes.

The Crew Revolt and Leave the Passengers to Their Fate—Sixty-two are Drowned.

Down in Mid-Ocean.

NEW YORK, May 24.—A special from St. Johns says: The French brig, Sonorine, went ashore at Grand Banks on Friday and was a total wreck in fifteen minutes. Fifty-three of her passengers and nine of the crew were lost. The Sonorine was caught in a fog and the captain lost his bearings. He was making for this port and was going slow when she struck. The wildest disorder prevailed, the officers and the crew making for the boats, leaving the passengers to care for themselves. One boat containing twenty passengers and some of the crew were swamped by the lurching of the vessel. The screams of the women were heart-rending and the most of them sank immediately. The men struggled, but only for a few seconds, by catching floating spars. The captain was unable to maintain discipline. Among the passengers few were able to save themselves; many clung to the rigging after the first shock, thinking that the vessel would stand the strain and they might be picked up when the fog cleared, but when the vessel went to pieces they were lost. Only about twenty were saved.

Trying to Settle.

PITTSBURGH, May 24.—In the common pleas court this morning Judge Stowe granted the iron manufacturers a license for certain voluntary tribunal to adjust disputes between employer and employee in the iron rolling mill. The trade is conditioned upon the assent and agreement of the necessary number of employees.

A Destructive Fire.

PHILADELPHIA, May 24.—The fire in the Atlantic Oil works spread during the night and is still burning. The tanks have burst and efforts are being made to run off the oil in the tanks. The Parosine works, consisting of several brick buildings, are lost. Loss, $200,000. The property at Point Breeze is considered to be in peril. The tug Stokely is aiding the fire department from the river front. An application has been sent to General Hartout to send a detail from the Keystone battery to blow up the tanks of the Belmont works to save property and to prevent the fire from spreading to the gas works. At noon fourteen tanks of oil were ablaze and several more are in great danger. The flames have spread over five acres and are likely to continue to burn for some days. The firemen feel confident they can keep it confined to the oil now burning. Since 4 o'clock this morning several explosions have occurred and a change in the wind may spread the flames. The loss now reaches $600,000. 3 p. m.—At this hour the situation is unchanged and there is no immediate prospect of the fire spreading. The oil is burning fiercely and a project to pierce a 25,000 barrel tank by cannon balls to draw off the oil is under consideration. The cannon was placed in position but the officials are cautious of surrounding property.

MINOR FIRES.

TORONTO, May 24.—The Mail building partially burned this morning. The northern wing will probably be saved.

OIL FIRE AT CLEVELAND.

CLEVELAND, May 24.—During a violent thunderstorm last night lightning struck the petroleum tank at the Alexander works, glanced and instantly struck on fire a 30,000 barrel tank at the Star refining works, a mile distant, containing 6,000 barrels of oil, which burned until 1 o'clock this morning. Loss, $15,900; insured.

The report was agreed to. Under a special order of the house this day was assigned to measures called up by the committee of naval affairs.

The trial of Charley Butler continues at Columbia City. Yesterday the prisoners' father, Dr. George W. Butler, was on the witness stand and testified as to his son's insane eccentricities. The old gentleman made his son out a very dangerous lunatic and narrated the strange incidents of Charley's life from his boyhood. The defense rested to-day and the state is now offering testimony in contradiction to the plea of insanity. The fact now seems established that Butler is insane and it is believed he will get a life sentence in the asylum. The case will go to the jury next week. Butler ate about five pounds of candy yesterday, and amused himself trying to catch fuzza that was flying in the air.

As is customary the Sion S. Bass and Anthony Wayne posts, G. A. R., will participate in memorial services at the Academy of Music to-morrow afternoon. Lifted Up

A happy surprise it was to Mr. A. R. Norton, of Bristol, Conn., when a messenger put him on his feet, and sent him cheerfully about his business. Let him tell his own story:

"About three weeks ago I was taken with a severe cold in the head. For four days I was unable to turn in bed without help, and when I did get up I could not stand on my feet. I was induced to try ATRIUMPHOS, after all the usual remedies failed. In 30 minutes after taking the first dose I could bear my weight upon my feet. In two days I was able to get about and attend to my business. On two other cases which have come to my knowledge the use has been attended with the same results."

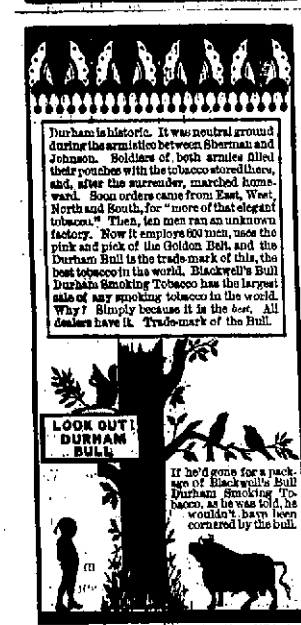

A poor man in Philadelphia had to borrow a dollar to buy a bottle of ATRIUMPHOS. On account of his poverty his name should remain secret. He had suffered terribly from Rheumatism. He gratefully writes:

"I took my first dose Tuesday afternoon, and on Wednesday, after but seven doses, I had not a sharp or severe ache left. Then I reduced the dose one-half and took them until I was cured. I was able to be steady at work till Saturday, when I took a severe cold and was unable to use my left hand. I purchased another bottle and by Wednesday I found relief. The medicine is all you claim for it."

Investigate ATRIUMPHOS all you please! Find all the fault you choose with it! and yet the fact remains, that it is doing what no other medicine ever could do for Rheumatism and Neuralgia.

If you cannot get ATRIUMPHOS of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.

ATRIUMPHOS CO., 112 WALL ST., NEW YORK.

SOCIETY.

The Village Fair and Its Attractions—

Spirited Balloting for Popular Favorites.

Social Catalogue—Luncheons and High Teas—Brave Knights—Art Notes—

Personal Gossip.

The social world sleeps. These are the days of the fair, comfortable and enervating when vanity fair sinks into lazy enjoyment and declines exertion socially, physically or mentally. Luncheons and high teas seem to be the most pronounced dissipation of the week. The average society girl would rather swing listlessly in her hammock content with day dreams, than cultivating inaccessible if desirable youths.

The ascension day services at Trinity church were very impressive. Rev. S. O. M. Orpen, of Lima, Ind., preached a most eloquent and effective sermon. Rev. Grand Prelate W. N. Webb assisting. The Fort Wayne Commandery Knights Templar and visiting Sir Knights attended in full uniform and were quite imposing as they marched into the spirited strains of the Knights Templar march composed and played by Mr. Wales, the organist. The gullant Knights evidently appreciated the power of dress as well as their fair friends, when they chose their handsome uniforms, nodding plumes and clashing swords. One must need look twice to know they are the same familiar friends of every day life in a garb monotonous and inartistic. The Sir Knights evidently enjoy life with their frequent banquets, sumptuous if not, and envious lady friends can only surmise what those horrid men gossip about until the wee sma' hours of the night.

The ladies of Trinity parish have every reason to congratulate themselves upon the success of the "Village Fair," held last Tuesday and Wednesday evening. The net receipts being the handsome sum of $520. Much labor and taste was expended upon the arrangement and decoration of the booths, ten in number. The most noticeable and artistic being the art, candy and flower booths. Miss Edgerton, the Gipsy fortune teller, was interviewed in a gay colored tent.

The interest of the last evening continued in the voting, and pretty girls rushed to and fro frantically collecting dimes for favorites. The vote for the candle stick for the most popular young lady resulted as follows: Miss Lottie Holmes, Pittsburgh, 540; Miss May Randall, 351; Miss Jo Edgerton, 41; Miss Carrie Graves, 10; Miss Edith Swan, 14.

The vote for the smoking set for the most popular gentleman, was: H. M. Bond, 353; H. J. Meyer, 55; H. W. Mordhurst, 44.

A pretty screen for clergymen was voted as follows: Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger, 52; Rev. W. H. McFarland, 25; D. W. Moffat, 54; Rev. W. N. Webb, 3804; Rev. A. Aaron, 3; Rev. Mr. Wagenhals, 2.

Under the direction of Prof. Leonard Wales a pleasing musical program was presented. Miss Minnie Graves sang with charming effect a pretty selection and pleased her hearers very much.

The duet "Merry Wives of Windsor," as played by Messrs. Theo. Frank and L. Wales, was most brilliantly rendered and showed great skill.

Miss Mary Randall sang with inimitable naïveté one of the most bewitching songs ever written—"Supposing," by J. W. Bishop.

Miss Evelyn Bond played with commendable taste and effect a lovely arrangement of "Faust," by L. Smith.

Miss Jessie Hanna sang F. A. H. lovely song, "Heaven Hath Shed a Tear," in a most impressive and scholarly manner. She is possessed of a very cultivated voice. Mr. Wales also rendered some classical numbers.

A large and intelligent audience attended the concert given at Plymouth church last Tuesday evening. The program, as published in THE SENTINEL, was carried out to a letter, and the concert was a grand success financially and otherwise. The music by the orchestra was exceedingly fine. The May Pole march, by four little boys and girls, and the Brown brigade, by eight young ladies, was one of the principal features of the evening, and was highly appreciated by the large audience. The recitation and trombone solo, by Master Burns Douglas, whose age is only five years, was loudly applauded. Little McLaughlin rendered a pretty local selection, entitled, "Where the Birds Sing." She has a sweet soprano voice, and on this occasion completely captured her hearers. The vocal duet, "Peek-a-Boo," by the Misses Hill, and the piano duet by the Misses Lincoln, were finely rendered and reflected credit on the young ladies. "Old Shady" was nicely sung by Messrs. Alf and Perry Lukens, Housch and Hump and brought forth rounds of applause. Tennyson's May Queen was ably recited by Miss Ernste and illustrated with tableaux, Miss Nettie Noble taking the part of May Queen. The vocal selection by Mrs. Cleary, piano duet by Misses Shrader and Clark and the recitation by Miss Gilbert were nicely rendered, and altogether the entertainment was a most pleasing one and reflected great credit on those having it in charge. The entertainment was as successfully repeated Thursday evening.

The following poem was written by Mrs. Cary Evans, in memory of the death of Mr. Dawson, which occurred twenty-five years ago, the anniversary of which she always religiously dedicates to her deceased husband:

IN MEMORIAM OF MAY 14, 1857.

How sweet was the bloom of the lilacs That night on a long-remembered May, When the tremulous leaves were throbbing And pulsing with promise of day: How the stars in their splendor went paling Before the swift coming of dawn, As the shadow we saw not and knew not Creeping so stealthily on.

The cool winds awoke and uprising Swayed lightly the top of the trees; Then ran with a ripple of gladness To call up each flower-scented breeze: How they sank to a murmur of sorrow And died in a whisper of pain, As the gloom of the shadow crept onward That never could be lifted again.

All night, through the half-open casement, Came the odor of incense of flowers, As we watched by the couch of the sleeper With hopes stoutly chanting the hours: Then my loved one rose up from his slumber, Ah, met with such hurried breath— Just kissed me one moment in parting And passed through the portals of death.

And the breath of the lilacs swept softly Across a pale forehead of clay, And the beautiful star of the morning Went out in the glory of day: A free soul beyond it swept grandly, Upborne by the King in his love, To the gates of that wonderful City, All shadow and sorrow above.

But the chill of that Presence goes with me, And sorrow and I cannot part, For the years that lie back on my pathway Are phantoms that cheat me my heart: And perchance in some blossoming May-time I too may pass out of the gloom, Though I walk through the Valley of Shadows, The darkness and chill of the tomb.

Oh! my true love, one moment bond earthward— Bend low from the crystalline sky— Let me catch but a gleam of your feature, The hem of your robe flashing by: I would spurn all my troubled-stained garments And the dust from my feet, And go up on the wings of the morning, Your glorified presence to meet.

Last Monday evening at the Baptist church Mr. Sau-ah-brah delivered a lecture that was decidedly unique as well as well as most fascinating. The rostrum was strewn with all the belongings of oriental homes. Sau-ah-brah himself was weird and strange in his trailing robes, old gestures and peculiar oratory, as with a rustled voice he described minutely all the phases of the life that seems so uncouth and comfortless to us, but still remembered with affection by him. He only disenchanted when he combes his long hair. This droll creature seems never at rest, but is either reclining in his chair for a moment or paces restlessly the small space allotted to him. Sau-ah-brah and his lecture are worthy of the interest and attention they received.

Next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings the pupils of St. Augustine's academy give a grand entertainment at Library hall, which promises by all odds to be the event of the season in that line. This is one of the most popular and flourishing educational institutions in the state and the sisters in charge rank so high as instructors in every department that the public always attend their exhibitions and entertainments. The solo of seats at Woodworth's promises to be large and the audience is sure to be delighted. The program has been published in full in all the city papers.

Tuesday Mrs. Mort Dawson gave a very elegant 5 o'clock tea. Covers were laid for fourteen on small, handsomely decorated tables. Six courses were served. The ladies were in full dress and the affair proved very charming and satisfactory to the hostess and her guests. Those present were Mesdames Henry Olds, Max Nirdlinger, Wagenhals, Wallace Dawson, Chapman, John Shoaff, Pond, Charley Wise, Morganthaler, Maier, Lumbard and Miss Lottie Holmes.

In the National league race, Providence leads, closely hugged by New York and Boston. On the result in this league it is not safe to bet yet, as the first may be last and the last first when the season closes.

And yet headaches, backaches, stomach aches and many other aches, swellings, sores, etc., troubled her before she took Dr. Guyot's Yellow Dock and Sassaaparilla. TEMPLE OF THESPIS.

The Fort Wayne Masonic Temple and Opera House Hastened to Completion.

Opening Attractions of the Prettiest and Most Conscient House in the West.

Names of Gentlemen Who Have Engaged Tickets for the Initial Three Night Season.

Since the moment the last brick was laid on the Masonic Temple walls, under the old contract, THE SENTINEL never neglected an opportunity to urge the completion of the edifice and prompt its promoters to activity. An imaginary account of its grand opening was published in these columns and various schemes suggested to enthrone interested persons in the work of converting ruins into a magnificent temple. After a long wait the affairs passed into proper hands and enterprising men soon disposed of enough bonds to complete the Temple of Thespis and to thus see its fondest hopes realized. THE SENTINEL can be excused for rejoicing as the merry ring of the mason's trowel and sharp echo of the carpenter's hammer resound through its walls.

The temple opera house will certainly be the prettiest and most convenient in the west. The stage is so arranged and floor so inclined that every seat is desirable. The hall will comfortably hold 900 people and the opening is destined to find every seat occupied. It is expected to inaugurate the temple early in December. The material for the exterior of the edifice is all here, the iron pillars for interior support are in place and Kover & Son are at work on the scenery, while the fixtures of the play house will be put in on a moment's notice.

The first season will be for three nights. The event will be the gayest and most brilliant in the history of this city and the youth, beauty and chivalry of Fort Wayne will turn out to dazzle under the glow of a thousand gas jets. The trustees of the house hope to realize about $5,000 out of the opening performances, and season tickets will be sold for $10 each, but only 500 will be disposed of, leaving a sale of 400 tickets for each evening.

Gen. Sam B. Sweet, who has been foremost in this work, has secured the names of prominent citizens who agree to purchase 346 tickets, netting the handsome sum of $3,460. The signatures will be increased to 500, and then the most desirable seats sold at auction to the highest bidders. One gentleman has agreed to pay $200 for first choice, another $100 and so on down to $10. THE SENTINEL, with characteristic enterprise, publishes a list of the gentlemen who have signified their intention to be present at the initial performances and will continue the publication each Saturday until the sale is closed. The names and number of tickets engaged are as follows:

Stamting as we do chin-deep in fiction literature, the first question to many of the young people are asking is, "Shall we read novels?" I reply there are novels that are pure, go Christian elevating to the heart and nothing to the life. But I have still ther to say that I believe three-four of the novels in this day are baneful destructive to the last degree. A p work of fiction is history and poetry oined. It is a history of things aron us, with the licenses and the assu nances of poetry. The world can ne repay the debt which it owes, to sctitious writers as Hawthorne, Mack

Again, abstain from all those books which, while they have some good thing about them, have also an admixture of evil. You have read books that had in two elements in them, the good and the bad. Which stuck to you? The bad. The heart of most people is like a sieve which lets the small particles of gold fall through, but keeps the great crystals. Once in a while there is a mind like a load-stone, which, plunged amidst steel and brass filings, gathers up the steel and repels the brass. But it is generally just the opposite. If you attempt to plunge through a hedge of thorns to get one blackberry you get more thorns than blackberries. You can not afford to read a bad book, however good you are. You say: "The influence is insignificant." I tell you that the scratch of a pin has sometimes produced the lock-jaw. Alas! if through curiosity, as many do, you pry into an evil book, your curiosity, as dangerous as that of the man who would stick a torch into a gunpowder mill, merely to see whether it will blow up or not. In a menagerie in New York a man put his hand through the bars of a black leopard's cage. The animal's hide look so slick and bright as beautiful. He just stroked it once. The monster seized him, and he drew forth hand torn and mangled and bleeding. Oh, touch not evil, even with the faintest stroke; though it may be glossy and beautiful, touch it not, lest you pull forth your soul torn and bleeding under the clutch of the black leopard. "But," you say, "how can I find out whether a book is good or bad without reading it? There is always something suspicious about a bad book. I never knew an exception. Something suspicious in the dexter or the stealth of illustration. These monster reptile almost always carries a warning rattle.

Again I charge you to stand off from those books which corrupt the imagination and inflame the passion. I do not recommend to that kind of a book which a villain has under his coat, waiting for school to be out, and then looking for ways to see that there is no policeman around the block, offers the book to a person on his way home. I do not speak that kind of literature, but that which

There is one other thing I shall say this morning before I leave you, whether you want to hear it or not, that is that I consider the bad pictorial literature of the day as most tremendous for ruin. There is no one who can like good pictures better than I do. But what shall I say to the prostitution of this art to purposes of iniquity! These death warrants of the soul are at every street corner. They smite the vision of the young with pollution. Many a young man buying a copy has bought his eternal discomfiture. There may be enough poison in one bad picture to poison one soul, and that soul may poison ten, and the ten fifty, and the hundreds thousands, until nothing is left but the measuring line of eternity to tell the height and depth and ghastliness and horror of the great undoing. The work of death that the wicked author does in a whole book the bad engraver may do on half a side of pictorial. Under the disguise of pure mirth the young man buys one of these sheets. He unrolls before his comrades amid roars of laughter; but long after the paper is gone the results may perhaps be seen in the blasted imagination of those who saw it. The Queen of Death every night holds her banquet, and these periodicals are the printed invitations to her guests. Alas! that the fair brow of American art should be blotched with this plague spot, a blot that philanthropists, bothering themselves about smaller evils, should lift no united and vehement voice against this great calamity! Young man, do not this moral strychnine for your soul. Pick not up this nest of coiled adders under your pocket! Patronize no news that keep them! Have your room bright with good engravings, but for these iniquitous pictorials have not one wall, nor one bureau, nor one pocket. A man is better than the picture he loves to look at. If your eyes are not pure your heart can not be. One can guess the character of a man by the kind of pictorial he purchases. When the devil fails to get

Chief Hilbrecht and his men have invented a novel crossbar to hold the harness over the places where the horses stand when attached to the trucks and engines. By this clever arrangement the horses are relieved of their harness, except when on the run. The harness is so arranged that it can be dropped on the horse in a second and snapped together quicker than it takes to tell it. This scheme will effect a great saving in the expense of the department and Chief Hilbrecht and his clever assistants deserve much praise.

The Wabash railway has made changes in its divisions by dropping the middle division, thus reducing the number of divisions from five to four. G. W. Stevens, superintendent, with headquarters at Peru, Ind., will have charge of the line from Tilton to Cairo, Ill., and all lines east of the Illinois state line, which will be known as the eastern division. E. M. Armstrong, R. S. Miner and C. F. Meeks will superintend the lines west of Cairo and the Mississippi river. The accounts for the month of May will be closed in accordance with the present existing divisions. The arrangements will take effect May 26th.

Palpitation or rapid beating of the heart followed by periods of complete cessation, is caused chiefly by nervousness and bad blood. If the disease is neglected it is liable to result seriously, especially at a time of sudden excitement. Purify the blood, strengthen the muscular and nervous system, governing the heart, by using Dr. Gray's Yellow Dock and Sassaaparilla, and you will soon be rid of every trace of the affection.

Eliza McDermutt, aged 68 years, general debility.

Child of Mr. Gay, aged 8 months, spasms.

Doretta Dasser, aged 48 years, dropsy.

An irresponsible weekly publication threatens a vile attack upon the city editor of the Gazette. This contemptible warfare should receive a sharp and final rebuke, for if permitted to flourish the character and good name of every person is in jeopardy. The officers should suppress the circulation of this obscene stuff.
